PLANNING COMMISSION OKS WINE TASTING EVENT IN DEVENDORF PARK

By MARY SCHLEY

RESTAURANT OWNER Rich Pepe was hazy on the some of the details of an event he plans to hold in conjunction with seven Carmel-by-the-Sea wine-tasting rooms in Devendorf Park next month, but the community activities and cultural commission on Tuesday voted to recommend the city council approve it anyway, provided several key questions, such as the cost to attend, are answered first.

"This is an event we are devising to try to encourage people to come to downtown Carmel to use our parks and our playgrounds and shop in our stores and spend some money in our town," said Pepe, who sits on the ad hoc event committee with Mayor Jason Burnett that is proposing an outdoor culinary market to be held on Thursdays.

"We're hoping to do this event the Thursday before Thanksgiving," he told the commission at the Oct. 9 meeting. "We picked that date at [councilwoman] Victoria Beach's request to help promote Thursdays in Carmel."

Pepe said he is taking the lead in order to encourage other people to hold events in town. He also said organizers would collect a $10-per-person "requested donation" benefiting the Carmel Mission Foundation, of which he was recently made a board member. (The foundation is undertaking the $5 million seismic retrofit of the Basilica and has a list of other crucial improvements that still need funding.)

Pepe said he will pay the permit fees and other event costs.

"If there's money due at the end of the day, I am responsible," he said. "Someone has to step up and walk up the steps at city hall and sign on the dotted line."

He said the idea of the Carmel-by-the-Glass tasting event is to draw participants who would also shop in town beforehand and/or eat dinner here afterward.

Organizers would sell drink tickets or wristbands entitling participants to tasting, but they might be scaled according to the value of the particular wine the person wants to sample. (An expensive wine would require more drink tickets than a less expensive offering.) Pepe was unclear on the details due to conflicting information on whether the tickets could be sold at the park or had to be sold in the tasting rooms.

"It's not a drinking event; it's a tasting event," he explained further, and it would also include small bites from restaurants, and perhaps models showing off local stores' merchandise. Live musicians would perform but wouldn't be too loud. He said expected attendance of 150, and the park would be cordoned off so guests would funnel through one entrance.

Code enforcement officer Margi Perotti said the proposal sounded wonderful, "but it seems like it's more in concept than in actual fact of what he wants to do."

She also pointed out he had not addressed issues of trash and toilets. "If you're having 150 to 200 people, who's going to be cleaning up? The park has restrooms, but I don't know if they can handle that many people."

She asked how he planned to address security issues and parking. "Where are these people going to park?" she queried, suggesting he might run a shuttle between the city's free Vista Lobos parking lot at Torres and Third and the park a few blocks away.

Donna Jett, who recently rejoined the cultural commission, suggested Pepe hold the tasting during one of the slow months of January through April if it isn't approved in time for the November date. She also said he had some work left to do on the application.

"You're going to have to put exactly what you're going to do with tickets and sales," she said. "You're going to have to put this definitive information on paper before you're going to council."

She asked Pepe if he would be willing to hone the details and bring the proposal back to the commission for a recommendation, but he declined.

"We're hoping to get your approval to move to the council," he said. "What haven't I answered? We're trying to get it done today."

Assistant city administrator Heidi Burch suggested the commission could recommend approval on the condition Pepe provides all the details and works with city staff to complete his application.

And Jett told Pepe she believed the process he was undergoing was, in fact, streamlining.

"I think doing this is streamlining, going through our questions, because you're going to have a whole lot more at the city council," she said. The city council has the final say because the event involves alcohol.

Ultimately, the commission voted unanimously to send Pepe's proposal, once completed, to the council with a recommendation of approval.

New housing rules head to coastal commission

By MARY SCHLEY

WITH THE city council's final approval last week, zoning changes that will restrict the construction of homes in the business district are bound for the California Coastal Commission, which must OK the new rules before they can take effect.

The law would give the planning commission and city council authority to refuse a permit for a single-family home downtown.

The change was inspired by a property owner's plans, which were eventually approved, to construct back-to-back, two-unit residences in the downtown area on San Carlos Street between Seventh and Eighth avenues.

The new ordinance would require applicants to meet more strict criteria in order to get their residential projects approved.

The ordinance also imposes requirements for square footage in two-unit residential developments, with the intent that the smaller unit be rented separately and not used as a guest quarters, and prohibits building a new home on the ground level of any building in the central business district if it would front on the street.

At the Oct. 2 meeting, planning and building services manager Sean Conroy told the council the new rules seek "to maintain and encourage the existing mixed-use pattern in the commercial districts of commercial on the ground floor and residential on the second floor," "to avoid large mansions in the commercial districts," and "to avoid small units in two-unit developments that are more likely to be used as a guest-house than a rental unit."

On Sept. 11, the council adopted the ordinance, and last week, it bestowed its final OK. Because it affects the zoning code, and therefore the city's local coastal program, the coastal commission must also certify the ordinance before it can take effect.

Proposed Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project

Notice of Preparation (NOP) of Environmental Impact Report for the Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project

In accordance with the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) is preparing an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the California American Water Company's (CalAm) proposed Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project (MPWSP). The MPWSP is comprised of various facilities and improvements, including: a seawater intake system; 9-million-gallons-per-day (mgd) desalination plant; water storage and conveyance facilities; and improvements to CalAm's existing Seaside Groundwater Basin Aquifer Storage and Recovery (ASR) facilities. As one alternative to the 9-mgd desalination plant, the EIR will evaluate a 5.4-mgd desalination plant coupled with a purchase agreement for 3,500 acre-feet-per-year of water from the Monterey Regional Water Pollution Control Agency's proposed Groundwater Replenishment Project. The MPWSP EIR will serve as a subsequent CEQA document to the CalAm Coastal Water Project EIR (SCH #2006101004) certified by the CPUC in December 2009. The proposed MPWSP is needed to replace existing water supplies that are constrained by legal decisions affecting the Carmel River and Seaside Groundwater Basin water supplies. State Water Resources Control Board Order No. WR 95-10 (Order 95-10) and the Monterey County Superior Court's adjudication of the Seaside Groundwater Basin. The EIR scoping period begins October 10, 2012 and closes at 5:00 p.m. on November 9, 2012.

The full NOP is available online at: <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/energy/Environment/Current+Projects/esa/mpwsp/index.html>. Requests for hardcopies of the NOP should be sent to MPWSP-EIR@esasoc.com. The NOP is also posted at several Monterey County Library branches (Aromas, Pajaro, Prunedale, Castroville, Marina, Buena Vista, Carmel Valley, Gonzales, and Seaside) and the John Steinbeck, Cesar Chavez, El Gabilan, and CSU Monterey Bay Libraries.

Notice of Preparation of Environmental Impact Report for the Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project

In accordance with the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) is preparing an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the California American Water Company's (CalAm) proposed Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project (MPWSP). The MPWSP is comprised of various facilities and improvements, including: a seawater intake system; 9-million-gallons-per-day (mgd) desalination plant; water storage and conveyance facilities; and improvements to CalAm's existing Seaside Groundwater Basin Aquifer Storage and Recovery (ADR) facilities. As one alternative to the 9-mgd desalination plant, the EIR will evaluate a 5.4-mgd desalination plant coupled with a purchase agreement for 3,500 acre-feet-per-year of water from the Monterey Regional Water Pollution Control Agency's proposed Groundwater Replenishment Project. The MPWSP EIR will serve as a subsequent CEQA document to the CalAm Coastal Water Project EIR (SCH #2006101004) certified by the CPUC in December 2009. The proposed MPWSP is needed to replace existing water supplies that are constrained by legal decisions affecting the Carmel River and Seaside Groundwater Basin water supplies: State Water Resources Control Board Order No. WR 95-10 (Order 95-10) and the Monterey County Superior Court's adjudication of the Seaside Groundwater Basin. The EIR scoping period begins October 10, 2012 and closes at 5:00 p.m. on November 9, 2012. The full NOP is available online at: <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/energy/Environment/CURRENT+Projects/esa/mpwsp/index.html>. Requests for hardcopies of the NOP should be sent to MPWSP-EIR@esassoc.com. The NOP is also posted at several Monterey County Library branches (Aromas, Pajaro, Prunedale, Castroville, Marina, Buena Vista, Carmel Valley, Gonzales, and Seaside), and the John Steinbeck, Cesar Chavez, El Gabilan, and CSU Monterey Bay Libraries. EIR scoping comments can be submitted: (1) via U.S. Postal Service at California Public Utilities Commission, Attention: Andrew Barnsdale, c/o Environmental Science Associates, 550 Kearny Street, Suite 800, San Francisco, CA 94108; (2) by fax (415.896.0332); and (3) via email (MPWSP-EIR@esassoc.com). Public Scoping Meetings will be held on: October 24, 2012: 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Rancho Canada Golf Club, 4860 Carmel Valley Road, Carmel, CA 93923. October 25, 2012: 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Oldemeyer Center, Blackhorse Room, 986 Hilby Avenue, Seaside, CA 93955. October 25, 2012: 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Oldemeyer Center, Laguna Grande Hall, 986 Hilby Avenue, Seaside, CA 93955. Published OCT. 24, 2012

Notice of Preparation of Environmental Impact Report for the Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project

In accordance with the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) is preparing an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the California American Water Company's (CalAm) proposed Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project (MPWSP). The MPWSP is comprised of various facilities and improvements, including: a seawater intake system; 9-million-gallons-per-day (mgd) desalination plant; water storage and conveyance facilities; and improvements to CalAm's existing Seaside Groundwater Basin Aquifer Storage and Recovery (ADR) facilities. As one alternative to the 9-mgd desalination plant, the EIR will evaluate a 5.4-mgd desalination plant coupled with a purchase agreement for 3,500 acre-feet-per-year of water from the Monterey Regional Water Pollution Control Agency's proposed Groundwater Replenishment Project. The MPWSP EIR will serve as a subsequent CEQA document to the CalAm Coastal Water Project EIR (SCH #2006101004) certified by the CPUC in December 2009. The proposed MPWSP is needed to replace existing water supplies that are constrained by legal decisions affecting the Carmel River and Seaside Groundwater Basin water supplies: State Water Resources Control Board Order No. WR 95-10 (Order 95-10) and the Monterey County Superior Court's adjudication of the Seaside Groundwater Basin. The EIR scoping period begins October 10, 2012 and closes at 5:00 p.m. on November 9, 2012. The full NOP is available online at: <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/energy/Environment/Current+Projects/esa/mpwsp/index.html>. Requests for hardcopies of the NOP should be sent to MPWSP-EIR@esassoc.com. The NOP is also posted at several Monterey County Library branches (Aromas, Pajaro, Prunedale, Castroville, Marina, Buena Vista, Carmel Valley, Gonzales, and Seaside), and the John Steinbeck, Cesar Chavez, El Gabilan, and CSU Monterey Bay Libraries. EIR scoping comments can be submitted: (1) via U.S. Postal Service at California Public Utilities Commission, Attention: Andrew Barnsdale, c/o Environmental Science Associates, 550 Kearny Street, Suite 800, San Francisco, CA 94108; (2) by fax (415.896.0332); and (3) via email (MPWSP-EIR@esassoc.com). Public Scoping Meetings will be held on: October 24, 2012: 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Rancho Canada Golf Club, 4860 Carmel Valley Road, Carmel, CA 93923.
