Pathways to Engaging with the CPUC Best Practices to Effectively Participate in the CPUC Decision-Making Process

Please join the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) on Tuesday, June 30, 2026, for an informational webinar providing insight into some of the best practices for effective participation in the CPUC decision-making process.

This webinar will provide practical information and guidance on pathways to participating in CPUC proceedings such as voting meetings, workshops, rulemakings, and requesting party status. Casey Dailey, Director of Energy & Environmental Programs with the Western Riverside Council of Governments (WRCOG), will discuss real-world examples of engaging with the CPUC to add context and a regional perspective to the CPUC decision-making process. Meaningful participation is achievable and essential to ensure CPUC decisions are well-informed and reflect the perspectives and interests of all Californians. The discussion will be followed by a Q&A session.
