Electric Rates & You: Understanding the CPUC General Rate Case (GRC) Process

What shapes electric rates and how you can participate in the ratemaking process

Please join the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) for an informational webinar on how decisions about utility spending and electric rates are made, and why the process matters to Californians.

CPUC Energy Division staff will provide an inside look at the General Rate Case (GRC) process, where the CPUC reviews utility costs and makes decisions that help shape electric rates. Large investor-owned utilities go through this process every four years.

You'll learn:

- What utilities ask for and how the CPUC reviews their costs
- How decisions about utility spending and rates are made
- Which factors matter, including cost, reliability, safety, and California's economy
- How to provide input and participate in the process

A moderated Q&A will give participants an opportunity to ask questions and share perspectives.
