

Russ Garwacki, Southern California Edison Company. Russ received his Masters degree in Economics from Claremont Graduate School and began working in Southern California Edison's load research department in 1983, ultimately supervising the group. From 1993 to 2003, Russ held various Customer Service management positions in the areas of Operations Analysis, Internet Delivery; and Regulatory Support. He has led the Pricing Design and Research group since 2004 and has overall responsibility for the rate design and load research functions at Southern California Edison.